PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

With over 18 years of experience at the intersection of business strategy, marketing leadership, and program development, Dina Khedr is a rare professional who combines institutional-grade thinking with hands-on executional excellence. Holding an MBA specializing in SMEs, she has built a career across Egypt's most dynamic tech-enabled sectors from employment platforms and e-learning to health-tech, SaaS, and service marketplaces, consistently delivering impact that scales.

Dina is recognized for her expertise to design and implement multi-million pound national programs spanning workforce development, startup ecosystems, university transformation, and digital enablement. She has secured ministerial endorsements, managed international donor relationships, and led on-ground activations working alongside Google, HSBC Egypt, the European Union, GIZ, ILO, Erasmus+, the Ministry of Higher Education, the Central Bank of Egypt, and ASRT.

Equal parts strategist and builder, she brings to every engagement a deep understanding of stakeholder dynamics, market positioning, and organizational design, translating complex mandates into clear strategies and measurable outcomes. Whether advising a startup, leading a national initiative, or building a brand from the ground up, Dina operates with the same precision, ambition, and drive.

PROFESSIONAL PRACTICE

Business & Strategy Consultancy

Dina operates as a cross-industry business and strategy consultant with a track record spanning Egypt's most competitive tech-enabled markets. From early-stage startups seeking their first market foothold to established platforms navigating complex growth challenges, she brings a structured, insight-driven approach to every engagement.

Her work spans brand architecture, go-to-market strategy, competitive positioning, digital campaign management delivered with the precision of a strategist and the agility of a practitioner. She has led marketing and strategy functions across sectors including employment, e-learning, health-tech, SaaS, service marketplaces, financial services, and sports education building a rare breadth of commercial experience that allows her to move fluidly between industries and stakeholder types.

Program Architecture & Development

With a distinct specialization in large-scale program design, Dina has built a reputation as one of Egypt's leading program architects, capable of taking a concept from a blank canvas to a fully funded, implemented, and impact-measured national initiative. She designs programs that serve individuals across the full development arc, from university students and fresh graduates through to working professionals, as well as institutions including startups, universities, government bodies, and innovation ecosystems.

Her program portfolio spans multi-million pound government-endorsed initiatives and internationally funded development programs, national digital enablement campaigns, and university transformation frameworks. She manages the full program lifecycle, from stakeholder alignment and proposal development through to execution, donor reporting, and outcome evaluation, consistently operating at the intersection of vision and delivery.

Event Architecture & Large-Scale Activations

Dina designs and delivers flagship summits, conferences, and large-scale activations from concept to execution. She has built multi-track events serving thousands of participants across both in-person and fully virtual formats, owning the full arc from strategic positioning and content architecture through speaker curation, partner engagement, brand identity, and registration funnels.

Her event portfolio spans the BrainsMingle AI Summit — positioned as the largest AI summit in MENA — the Cairo University Entrepreneurship Summit, and Google-partnered student activations reaching tens of thousands, consistently translating ambitious event visions into measurable reach, engagement, and audience growth.
